

World History Certificate Certification

Name: _____

Student ID: _____

Year Entered Program: _____

PhD. Committee Members: _____

Required: Five (5) courses all at the graduate level (500 and above).

Two (2) courses in comparative history or transregional/transnational history (e.g., comparative nationalism, colonialism, capitalism, slavery, or women's history; world economic history, international politics, empires and migration, intra-Asian, intra-African exchanges and connections).

Course No. and Title	Semester	Instructor	Grade
1)
2)

Two (2) courses on a region or a national area located on a continent different from that of a student's major field. At least one of these courses must be taken within the Department of History.

Course No. and Title	Semester	Instructor	Grade
3)
4)

One (1) course on "problems of global history/approaches to cross-regional history." Such methodological courses tailored towards the global history certificate are offered by different faculty on a rotating basis.

Course No. and Title	Semester	Instructor	Grade
5)

Over the course of their studies, students should audit a broadly comparative or transregional introductory lecture course. Depending on faculty availabilities and course offerings, ideally this should be HIST 001 or HIST012

Audit of History 001 or History 012 (circle one): Semester _____ Year _____

Chair, Graduate Studies

Date: _____